REASONS FOR ALLOWANCE

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

The broadest claims, claims 1 and 10, and 19, require combining nanodiamond particles in a biologically or cosmetically acceptable carrier.

Although Davies (US 4482538) teaches that that it is well known in cosmetic art to incorporate micro-scale (6-12 microns) diamond particles in nail varnishes and polishes to provide the nails with wear-resistant coating and a sparkle, the reference fails to teach or suggest using nanodiamond particles. While nanoparticles of diamond are known, there is no teaching, suggestion, or motivation to use nanodiamond in biologically or cosmetically acceptable carrier as required by the instant claims. See Raty et al. (Ultradispersity of diamond at the nanoscale, Nature Materials, Vol. 2, Dec. 2003). While the Raty reference describes the narrow size distribution of nanodiamond and its potential application in making cathodes, light emitters, ultrananocrystalline diamond films for miniaturized mechanical systems and devices, such as cantilevers and gears, there is no teaching or suggestion of application of nanodiamond in nail polish art, or in cosmetic or personal care art in general. Examiner is opinion that skilled artisan in cosmetic or personal care art would have found no motivation to combine the teachings of the Davies and Raty to make the presently claimed inventions.

The claim rejection made under 35 U.S.C. § 112, second paragraph, as indicated in the previous Office action dated December 27, 2006 is withdrawn in view of further consideration. It is viewed that the terms "skin cleanser" and "deodorant", and "dental filling", and "lotion" in claims 2, 4, 5, 6, 25, and 26 are deemed definite, as the terms confer reasonable meanings to a skilled artisan to known what are encompassed by the terms.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
